Convention No. 1.
BY CONRAD BROWN.

Do you know a convention was held yesterday night?

And copperheads sadly were slighted.

To it none were called but the soldiers of right.

And the loyalists only invited!

Well up to the gods crept the radical chapter (Our cloud of adversity in heaven.)

Audent ab auro were heard wonderful raps.

And a terrible squalling of chickens.

Now I don't mean to say they are Immortal men.

To slander them is not my intention.

But friends, put your chickens up—roost and hen,

If you ever are near a convention.

They spoke, and their speeches were testing with praise.

For themselves and their love, "the Copper-Niggers."

And they flatly affirmed in the light of day,

His mind would grow bigger and bigger.

He it resolved (said they with a smile,

And a gesture intended to frighten.)

"That Democrats have been disloyal the while,

And we're the "Elect" and the Eighteenth.

Resolved, that we'll take the poor negro to day,

With learning and freedom, we'll grow him.

And it even a copperhead can come to say,

He isn't his equal, we'll start him."

And so on till way mid the small hours of night,

There were mouthings and rantings epithets.

Till my pulses beat faint in republican high.

And I went home and took an emetic.

Eight to Sixteen.

Lord Shaftesbury recently arrived in a public meeting in London, that from personal observation he had ascertained that of the adult male criminals of that city, nearly all had fallen into a course of crime between the ages of eight and six and a half years; and then it is young men from no house up to twenty years of age, there are forty-nine chances in fives and only one again against him, as to an honest life to prosper.

This is a fact of startling import to fathers and mothers, and shows a clearcut responsibility.

Certainly a parent should secure the certain and exclusive welfare, control, and the shield and shelter of the law, it cannot be done by a full cultivator of this, except in very rare cases, and if that control is not steadily and efficiently exercised, it must be the parent's fault, it is owing to the parental neglect of promises. Hence the real source of ninety-eight per cent of the crime of a country such as England or the United States is at the door of the parents. It is in their full reflection we throw it before the minds of the fathers and mothers of our land, and there leave it to be thought of in wisdom, regarding only as to the early seeds of bodily disease; that they are nearly always sown between sun-dawn and bed-time, in absence from the family circle, in the supply of spending money, never exacted by the spenders, opening the doors of confectionaries, soda fountains, of beer and tobacco and wine shops of the circus, the negro minstrel, the restaurant and the dance; then follows the Sunday excursion, the Sunday drive, with the easy transition to the company of those whose ways lead down to the gates of social, physical and moral ruin. From "Eight to sixteen!" In these few years are the deadlines of children fixed in forty-nine cases out of fifty; fixed by the parent! Let us say father and mother solemnly vow "By God's help, I'll fix my darling's destiny for good by making home more attractive than the street."

REMARKABLE FREQUENCY. A friend just from the famous "Acrostic Valley," tells us as a "startin fact" that a man was walkin along in a thoughtful mood, a cucumber instructions of the resolutions, of the wine gave chase to him, ran up his leg and into his pocket. The man in great terror township, to attend the convention at Evansville, on the 19th, and instructed them to the impudent intruder, drew forth—what? a vote for Gen. James Vetch, as a candidate ripe cucumber! Talk about the West its for Congress. One of the delegates, Capt.

said that he could not attend the convention, and in a logical speech showed his heretofore conduct that Journal as editor.

Republican Convention in Ireland.

Mr. Foster—One of the most ardent factions in all history of politics met at Dubois county, who may attend the Republican convention. A fierce debate enclosed on that, during which loyalty was shown up to the colors. A speech was now made by the President, in which he said, "I want the people of Indiana know that we are yet one little spot of Dubois Co-united to the rest, and that we are anxious to be equal before the law, irrespective of color, race or blood." (Applause), by one man in the corner.)

At the close of his speech the President announced the contention that there was no rebellions before the house, and the debate however things turned out even came to an adjournment.

So M. B. D. ex-shelholder was appointed alternate; (Query by reporter what the devil is that?) A resolution was passed commending delegates all loyal citizens of Dubois county, who may attend the Republican convention. A fierce debate enclosed on that, during which loyalty was shown

up to the colors. A speech was now

made by the President, in which he said, "I

Yours truly, ***

Intention of Woman

The intuitive judgment of women are more apt to be relied upon than the conclusions of which we much prefer elaborate speculations. At the junction some person read a speech from C. O. G. "Not that I responded to C. O. G." Another speech was read calling for a speech from the President, "too true," replied he. Great excitation now began to be manifested by some select. Least there should not be time enough in the assembly to produce a speech

(Holland had more power). Hence politically, except a few exceptions, the whole crowd up the probable effects of the various speeches. No speaker competed in perfect silence; that was to be done. Some did not respond, but the rest did, and the whole crowd was silent. They were not able to speak up all right, but he will not be able to tell how she got there, but she is there, however, is of little importance. If the conclusion a woman has reached is sound, it all concerns

her. And that they are very apt to be sound on the practical matters of domestic and private life, nothing but prejudice or selfconceit prevents us acknowledging the same. Therefore, it is conceivable that the man who thinks it beneath his digni-tude to take counsel with a intelligent wife stands in his own light, and betrays that lack of judgment which he tacitly attributes to her.
